DEDICATION

The first yearbook of the Milton S. Hershey Medical Center is dedicated to the memory of Dr. Irwin L. Baird by the Class of 1984. We gratefully acknowledge the tremendous efforts that Dr. Baird made to help us through those delicate first weeks. Never at a loss for a smile and always willing to provide that extra help, he set the standard of comparison for all that followed. We are fortunate indeed to have been touched by his talents.

As I reflect upon the challenges and joys of medical school, I realize two significant things. First, the glory of my praiseworthy accomplishments belongs to Jesus. He carried me through by His grace and love. Second, my precious wife Barbara was and is a constant source of blessing and encouragement to me; I am glad we went through it together! I look forward to completing my training and to having the opportunity to make a significant contribution to other's lives.

It's a dog's life!

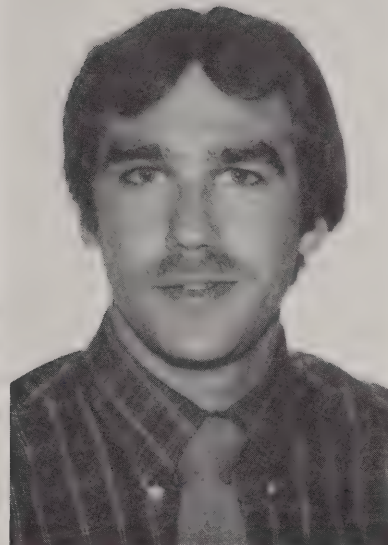

Minds cannot understand, nor systems imitate
The scope of your simplicity.
All the desires and hungers that defy your law
Wither to fears and perish in imprisonment.
And all the hopes that seem to founder in the shadows of a

Wake from a momentary sepulchre and are binded by their

Thou didst form my inward parts, thou didst knit me together in my mother's womb.
I praise thee, for thou art fearful and wonderful.
Wonderful are thy works!
Thou knowest me right well;
my frame was not hidden from thee,
when I was being made in secret.
Thy eyes beheld my unformed substance;
in thy book were written, every one of them,
The days that were formed for me,
when as yet there was none of them.

Psalm 139:13-16

Thank God every morning when you get up that you have something to do which must be done, whether you like it or not. Being forced to work, and forced to do your best, will breed in you temperance, self-control, diligence,

hundred other virtues which the idle
will never know.

Learning and Growing in Med School, by Ron Krak

Unsure and trembling I began this quest,
 Yet His calm voice assured me, "I am here. Fear not. Be at rest."
 I wondered at times if I could do it,
 But He would always say, "Just do your best and I'll see you through it."
 The brain and heart and soul- Their workings I must know.
 "I made them all and their workings to you I'll show."
 H and Ps and IVs. Do real doctors do such?
 "Be faithful in this little and I'll make you faithful in much."
 Sadness, pain, and suffering, how can these be?
 "Only when men lack do they see their need for Me."
 But the children and babes, why on them be so hard?
 "Trust Me. I assure you. They'll not lose their reward."
 What do I do? How can I help? What do I say?
 "Treat them as you would Me, and you'll know the way."

-Cyril Tourneur, The Revenger's Tragedy

We weep for gladness, weep for grief;
The tears they are the same;
We sigh for longing, and relief;
The sighs have but one name.
And mingled in the dying strife,
Are moans that are not sad;
The pangs of death are throbs of life,
Its sighs are sometimes glad.
The face is very strange and white:
It is earth's only spot
That feebly flickers back the light
The living seeth not.

Invictus

Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the Pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods may be
For my unconquerable soul.
In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced nor cried aloud.
Under the bludgeonings of chance
My head is bloody, but unbowed.
Beyond this place of wrath and tears
Looms but the horror of the shade,
And yet the menace of the years
Finds, and shall find me, unafraid.
It matters not how straight the gate,
How charged with punishments the
scroll,
I am the master of my fate:
I am the captain of my soul.

My (sic) Speech to the Graduates More than any time in history, mankind faces a crossroads. One path leads to despair and utter hopelessness. The other to extinction . . . Put in its simplest form, the problem is: how is it possible to find meaning in a finite world given my waist and shirt size? Science is something we depend on all the time. If I develop a pain in my chest, I must take an X-ray. But what if the radiation from the X-ray causes me deeper problems? Before I know it, I'm going in for surgery. Naturally, while they're giving me oxygen an intern decides to light up a cigarette. The next thing you know I'm rocketing over the World Trade Center in my bedclothes. Is this science? And where is science when man ponders the eternal riddles? Exactly what do we mean when we say man is mortal? Obviously it is not a compliment. I often think how comforting life must have been for early man because he believed in a powerful benevolent Creator who looked after all things. Imagine his disappointment when he saw his wife putting on weight . . . Am I my brother's keeper? Yes. Interestingly, I share that honor with the Prospect Park Zoo . . . The Government is unresponsive to the needs of the little man. Under five-seven, it is impossible to get your congressman on the phone . . . Violence breeds more violence and it is predicted that by the year 1990, kidnapping will be the dominant mode of social interaction. Overpopulation will exacerbate problems to the breaking point. Figures tell us that we already have more people on earth than we need to move even the heaviest piano . . . Instead of facing these challenges we turn to drugs and sex. We live in far too permissive a society. Never before has pornography been this rampant. And those films are lit so badly . . . Summing up, it is clear that the future holds great opportunities. It also holds pitfalls. The trick will be to avoid the pitfalls, seize the opportunities, and get home by six o'clock.

"Of the value traps, the most widespread and pernicious is value rigidity. This is an inability to revalue what one sees because of a commitment to previous values. In motorcycle maintenance, you must rediscover what you do as you go. Rigid values make this impossible.

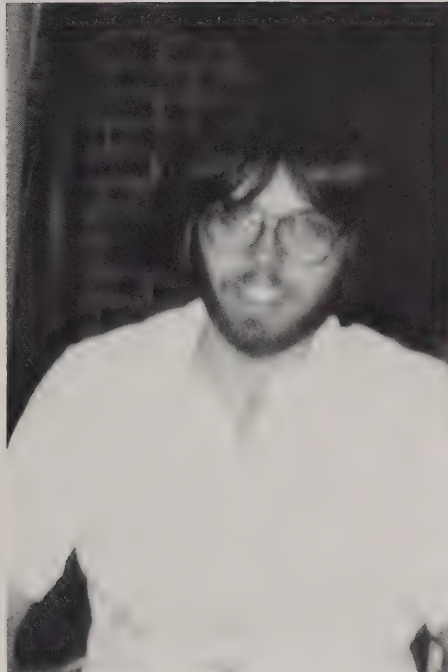

What you have to do, if you get caught in this gumption trap of value rigidity, is slow down anyway whether you want to or not—but slow down deliberately and go over ground that you've been over before to see if the things you thought were important were really important and to . . . well . . . just stare at the machine. There's nothing wrong with that. Just live with it for a while. Watch it the way you watch a line when fishing and before long, as sure as you live, you'll get a little nibble, a little fact asking in a timid, humble way if you're interested in it. That's the way the world keeps on happening. Be interested in it."

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

It isn't every day that a group of students gets to be the first at something, but then again the Class of 1984 at HMC is unique in many ways. The initial idea for a yearbook was entertained during our first six months of medical school and interest was high enough that I felt we could actually put together a book to capture our time here. Indeed, I'm sure many members of the class forgot about the survey of "Projected Specialties" which was taken back in 1980, but the results are found here within the yearbook three and a half years later!

Because of the structure of the medical school curriculum and the fact that we were starting from scratch, we chose to concentrate on the senior class. Obviously, we would like to have included more of our colleagues in the Classes of 1985, 1986, and 1987, but this was too great a task. Hopefully, we've managed to catch some of our underclass friends within these pages.

The support and enthusiasm demonstrated by the faculty for this undertaking were remarkable. I received many kind letters as well as offers of "help from experience" from a great number of the faculty. The monetary support (as can be seen in the advertising pages) from various departments was generous. In addition, a fair number of local businesses, pharmaceutical representatives, and hospitals were of considerable help.

A special thanks must go to Mr. Reath Edwards, Mr. Ned Book, and Mr. Dave Manton of the Hershey Entertainment and Resort Company. HERCO kindly provided the funds to publish the Class of 1984 section. I appreciated their willingness to meet with me on a "drop in" basis, as well as taking time to talk on the phone. They were truly considerate and we are much indebted to HERCO's generosity.

Casey Sheehe, of Josten's, saw our potential and encouraged us constantly. She was of infinite assistance, running back and forth from Harrisburg or trying to reach me via hospital page. She was tremendously patient with our inexperience.

Mr. George Crowther and the HMC Department of Safety and Security helped with the cover photograph one cold December Saturday night. I can still hear Larry telling us over the walkie-talkie how great it looked out at 322 after we turned on the last lights!

I would also like to thank Scott, Marc, Bill, Ellen, Larry, and Mary for making my job go more smoothly. Their help on the Editorial Staff was superb. During my absence in February, deadlines continued to be met thanks to the efforts of acting editor Weaver-Deffner-Patterson-George. The members of the yearbook staff did a fantastic job in every respect: photography, typing, layout, and advertising. Our class can be proud of the work the staff did to make this a first rate publication.

It was a real thrill to work with every member of the staff on this project and the joy of having 95 such fantastic classmates can never be expressed. I hope that we were able to capture a small amount of what made our four years here together a memorable experience. We hope (and expect) that what we have begun with this book will continue and grow in future years.

We start off conservative. 4 scoops of Friendly® vanilla ice cream with fudge topping. Then we get a little crazy. On top of the fudge topping there's marshmallow topping. On top of that, rich peanut butter topping, and to top it all off, whipped topping. We've even topped the topping with Reese's pieces® and chocolate sprinkles. And, of course, a cherry tops everything.

To the Class of 1984

“Medicine is a most difficult art to acquire. All the college can do is to teach the student principles, based on facts in science, and give him good methods of work. These simply start him in the right direction; they do not make him a good practitioner - that is his own affair.”

-Sir William Osler
